Step 2: Receive pre-approval

Timeframe: Program staff reviews and responds within five business days of submission.

Applicant has 30 days to correct any issues identified by program staff or the application will be cancelled.

Program staff will review the application for eligibility and reach out with any questions. If there are no questions, the applicant will be issued a pre-approval letter. All applicants must receive a pre-approval letter prior to taking the course to be eligible for reimbursement. The pre-approval letter will have a deadline of one year from pre-approval notice for completing the training. Applicants will need to resubmit if the deadline passes without course completion.

Step 3: Take training course/certification

Timeframe: Applicant has one year from pre-approval to complete the training course/certification and submit proof.

Once pre-approved, applicants can proceed with paying for and taking the training/certification course. Most training courses will require the applicant to pay upfront. Should the applicant sign up and not complete the training within the year or does not pass the course, the reimbursement will not be paid.

Step 4: Submit proof

Timeframe: Applicant has one year from pre-approval to complete the training course/certification and submit proof.

The applicant will submit proof of payment and successful completion of the course through the same application portal as step 1.

The proof of payment document must include the following:

- Date of purchase
- Course name (must match pre-approval application and completion document)
- Payment amount

The successful course completion documentation must include the following:

- Date of completion
- Course name (must match proof of payment)
- Applicant's first name, last name

Step 5: Receive final approval and reimbursement

Timeframe: Program staff will review documentation within five business days, and reimbursement will be released within 45 business days. Applicant has 30 days to correct any issues identified by program staff or the application will be cancelled.

Program staff will review the proof of payment and successful course completion. If there are no questions or concerns, a final approval notice and reimbursement check will be released.
